German Resistance Grows Stronger MAYOR TACKLES COAL PROBLEM Turks to Sign All Peace Terms

WASHINGTON INFORMED GERMAN RESISTANCE STEADILY GROWING

Berlin Officially Denies Report of Modification of Resistance to French Occupation—Industrialists Confident of Carrying on and at Same Time Prevent French From Getting Anything Worth While

By the Associated Press
The policy of resistance to the French occupation of the Ruhr valley has not been modified but is growing steadily stronger the German government declared through its embassy in Washington today.

Managers of big industries in the valley express confidence in their ability to carry on and at the same time prevent the French from getting anything worth while out of the district however effectively they might occupy it militarily.

The famous Thyssen plants in the Ruhr and vicinity, employing some 65,000 men, are declared by the management not to have been affected by either the railroad or coal strikes. The plants are working full time, mining their own fuel as do many other big industries in the valley.

The railroad strike seems again largely effective in the Ruhr and important districts in the Rhineland. Navigation on the Rhine from Ruhr

MOVE TO KEEP 1923 SALARIES OF DEPARTMENT HEADS AT PRESENT LEVEL

It was stated today upon good authority that there will be an attempt made in city council meeting tonight to establish salaries for department heads for 1923 upon the same plan as they are at present. This would mean that salaries will be in 1923 will continue in effect and requests for increases by the city treasurer, city solicitor and chief of the fire department automatically would be nullified.

It is believed a motion to this effect will be offered at one meeting of disposing of the salary question; whether it will prevail is another question, for it is known that several councillors favor the appointment of a salary committee to study the question, give hearings to officials who desire increases and report their

MANSLAUGHTER CHARGE IS DISMISSED

William J. E. Kilroy, who was arrested on December 31, 1922, on a charge of manslaughter in connection with the death of Joseph LaCourse, was today found not guilty of the charge and dismissed. An inquest on LaCourse's death was held some time ago by Judge Fleckman, who stated in the finding that there was no evidence on which to hold defendant for criminal liability.

The manslaughter charge resulted from the shooting of LaCourse by Kilroy on New Year's eve last. It was brought out at the trial that the two men were examining a pistol when Kilroy accidentally pulled the trigger and a bullet pierced LaCourse's body, mortally wounding him.

NO DANGER OF GAS EXPLOSION HERE

Since the explosion last week of the gas purifying plant at Springfield there has been considerable talk around town concerning the possibility of such an explosion occurring here. General Manager Prichard of the Lowell Gas Light company made the following statement today so that there would be no further cause for worry in this regard:

"So far as we are able to learn from newspaper reports, and other information which we have been able to secure from men who have been on the scene, conditions at Springfield are entirely different than they are at Lowell. In the first place, the Springfield plant, as we understand it, is located practically in the heart of the business section. The Lowell Gas Light company's plant, on the contrary, is located in the Associate hall, Miner-Doyle's, tonight.

Separate Peace Proposal

LONDON, Feb. 6.—Reuter's London correspondent was informed early this afternoon that M. Bompard, head of the French delegation, had intimated that there was a possibility of the Near East treaty being signed almost immediately.

WERE ARRESTED IN NEW YORK ON WAY TO WASHINGTON TO FACE TRIAL FOR CONSPIRACY

Arraigned and Held in $15,000 on Charge of Using Mails to Defraud

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—Victims of a sensational arrest in the Pullman that was taking them to Washington for trial for war frauds, Benjamin and Harry F. Morse were arraigned before Federal Judge Winslow here today on charges of conspiring with Charles W. Morse, their father, and 21 other defendants, to use the mails to defraud steamship stock purchasers.

They refused to plead on the ground that they had not had time to consult but the court ordered a tentative plea of not guilty entered for them and sent them to jail until they could raise $15,000 bail each.

The arrests, staged at Pennsylvania Terminal, where they had been trailed from New England by department of justice agents, brought an abrupt end to two strenuous court fights to escape trial here.

Pullman passengers were asleep at 2 a. m. when the federal agents yanked the covers off the pair, exposing them to the frosty morning air. Both emitted yells of surprise.

When a newspaper photographer set off a flash in the federal building as the brothers were being led to the court room, Benjamin jumped almost free of his escort, exclaiming:

"What's that? Good Lord, that's the second time this morning I've been started out of my wits. It's no joke to be hauled out of your bed at 2 a. m. and yanked through the streets to a marshal's office."

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—The first trial growing out of the investigation of alleged "war funds" by a special grand jury here, began today in the criminal division of the District of Columbia supreme court, with Charles W.

Most of the entrants were budding or already celebrated beauties of cabarets and stage and there were a great many of them, so that the winner is entitled to congratulate herself on victory over formidable competition and plenty of it.

Good looks, to be sure, were not named as essential to participation in the test. It was the beauty of the

TODAY I AM REAL WELL

So Writes Woman After Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Jamestown, N. Y.—"I was nervous, easily excited and discouraged and had no ambition. Part of the time I was not able to sit up as I suffered with pains in my back and with weakness. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, both the liquid and tablet forms, and used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash for inflammation. Today I am real well and run a rooming house and do the work. I recommend your medicine to every woman who complains, and you may use my letter to help any one else. I am passing through the change of life now and I keep the Vegetable Compound in the house, ready to take when I feel the need of it."—Mrs. ALICE D. DAYIS, 203 W. Second St., Jamestown, N. Y.

Often some slight derangement may cause a general upset condition of the whole system, indicated by such symptoms as nervousness, backache, lack of ambition and general weakness.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will be found a splendid medicine for such troubles. In many cases it has removed the cause of the trouble.

At any rate, the picture shows a competent board of experts' idea of what the ideal smile is. It might not be uninteresting to try a comparison with it in a mirror, just to see how many other girls there are who think they could have performed creditably against Miss McGuire if they'd been entered in the competition.

YOUNG MAN HELD ON SERIOUS CHARGE

Following a hearing in the district court this morning, James F. Kane of Lakeview avenue, charged with a criminal assault on a 7-year-old girl, was ordered to furnish bonds in the sum of $3000 for his appearance before a grand jury the first Monday in March. Kane, 20 years old, is alleged to have enticed the youngster into his uncle's home in Beharrell avenue last Sunday afternoon. The court explained to defendant that the offense is punishable by a state's prison sentence.

Sensational Arrest on Train

They are charged with conspiracy to defraud the United States and the Emergency Fleet corporation through wartime shipping contracts involving approximately $40,000,000.

The defendants, besides Charles W. Morse, are Elvyn, Benjamin and Harry Morse; Colin H. Livingstone, former president of the Virginia Shipbuilding corporation; George M. Burdett, attorney for the Morse interests; Nehemiah H. Campfield of New York, assistant treasurer of the United States Transport Co., Inc.; Rupert M. Much, Augusta, Ga., assistant treasurer of the Virginia Shipbuilding corporation; W. W. Scott, Washington attorney; Phillip J. Alexander, counsel for the United States Fleet corporation at Alexandria, Va.; Leonard D. Christie, treasurer of the Virginia Shipbuilding Corporation, and Robert O. White, assistant treasurer of the Groton Iron Works and president of the United States Transport Co., Inc.

The government's investigation into the shipbuilding operations of Morse first came to light when the department of justice asked the navy department to send a destroyer to intercept a French liner carrying Morse to France from New York. Morse agreed to return here, taking the first boat from France after his arrival there in December, 1912, and he was arrested on his return.

Charges made by Morse that the nation against him was started "because of personal feeling against him on the part of Attorney General Daugherty" and certain shipping board officials" recalled his release in 1912 after having been sentenced in 1908 to serve 15 years in the federal penitentiary at Atlanta, for having misappropriated funds of the National Bank of North America in New York.

President Taft commuted the banker's sentence in 1912 on the recommendation of the attorney general based on a report from the surgeon-general of the army which said Morse would die within a month if confined to prison and predicted his death within six months even if released. Mr. Daugherty served as one of his attorneys at that time. Morse's allegations of personal reasons for his indictment were denied by Dist. Atty. Gordon, who had charge of the investigation of his wartime shipbuilding operations.

The indictments involve contracts between the Emergency Fleet Corp. and the Groton Iron Works at Noank, Conn., and the Virginia Shipbuilding Corp. at Alexandria, Va., and charge it was the intention of the defendants to obtain large sums of money from the fleet corporation by falsely representing that they would be used for construction of vessels, and to divert large sums from the ship construction for erection and equipment of plants and housing facilities, thus converting the funds to the use of the shipbuilding corporations and themselves and delaying construction of vessels. Thirty "overt acts" are charged against them in the indictments.

They are being conducted every Monday evening and it is said that the number of aspirants for citizen papers from this school will be even greater than that of the men's.

Public subscriptions were taken up for the carrying on of the work assigned to the committee and as a result hundreds of names were added to Lowell's voting list. NO ORDINANCES TO BE REPORTED

Whether this year's city council will have an opportunity to vote on the abolition of the city employment bureau, upon the removal of the water works from under public service board control or upon the division of the charity department, still is a moot question and no light will be shed upon it at tonight's meeting.

The council committee on ordinances, Councillor John J. McPadigan, chairman, will make only a report of progress tonight, stating what has been accomplished along the line of research, but without making any recommendations or suggesting any ordinances. A number of department heads have been in conference with the committee, which is giving every consideration to recommendations included in the mayor's inaugural address, but insufficient data is at hand upon which a complete report might be framed.

SAVE THE MERCHANT MARINE

Perhaps the most important single question before congress at the present time is that of the Ship Subsidy bill which the middle western senators are trying to kill. President Harding has made an appeal for the passage of this measure in order to save the merchant marine and prevent the ships from going into the junk heap or else being sold for a mere fraction of their original cost. Senator Borah and leaders of the farm bloc have declared that they do not care how the commerce of the United States is carried, whether in foreign bottoms or in American. That, in our judgment, is the statement of dangerous demagogues. In some quarters the opposition assumes democratic form and was in a degree fostered by the democratic leaders, apparently through a spirit of opposition to the administration.

It is dangerous business for the democratic party to take any step that might make it responsible for the defeat of the ship subsidy bill even though an administration measure. During the war the United States became the second maritime nation in the world and the question is now, whether congress will decide to hold the nation in this rank, or allow it to go back, either to the very expensive operation under the government shipping board or else sell out the ships for little or nothing. It is stated that over half the United States government fleet, which includes some 874 steel ships, is tied up today and inactive. The administration subsidy measure would provide an annual appropriation not to exceed $30,000,000 to restore this fleet to the seas under private ownership. It is true that this method might be expensive to begin with, but it will be worth all it will cost in order to give the nation a merchant marine that will conduct our commerce with the markets of the world. Unless the bill be enacted, this nation will have to depend in the future upon foreign carriers and be once more dependent upon foreign powers to remove the surplus from our domestic markets which alone can prevent a business depression.

When the war was declared, this country was in a deplorable condition for the lack of a merchant marine. Even the navy had to depend upon foreign ships to fill its bunkers with coal. Without a merchant marine, this nation can never compete in the foreign markets with countries such as England and Japan. It is for this reason that the United States Chamber of Commerce and other influential bodies throughout the country, are in favor of the ship subsidy bill. The fact that it is advocated by President Harding should not justify opposition by the democratic party which built the ships and provided for their operation. The republican policy of high protection is not favorable to the maintenance of the merchant marine for the reason that the nations that cannot sell to the United States do not wish to buy from us. But if the merchant marine can be firmly established only by paying a subsidy, then let the subsidy be paid.

When all the expenses under government operation are considered it is found that the proposed subsidy is much the cheapest and best way yet devised for maintaining the merchant marine. To abandon the project of a merchant fleet and scrap the ships, would be little short of a national calamity.

THE GOVERNOR'S PROCLAMATION

The governor's proclamation setting February 12 as Lincoln day and dealing with the principles of justice, liberty and truth for which Lincoln stood, is an important document and one that should be carefully studied. It is a matter of grave moment to this country that certain classes of men led by religious fanatics or race prejudices, should band themselves together, claiming to be true Americans and to be imbued with patriotic purposes, yet planning and plotting against the liberties and the principles of freedom which Lincoln fought to establish and vindicate. To the advocates of such dangerous doctrines, the following appeal from the governor's proclamation should receive serious consideration:

"Let us remember on that day, especially in Massachusetts, where freedom found its staunchest advocates, that Lincoln desired the colored race to be wholly free. It is an unhappy augury that, after a lapse of 60 years, members of that race are still feeling the nub or bending beneath the burden of unjust racial proscription.

"With firmness in the right, as God gives us to see the right, let us in the spirit of Lincoln accord in fact that larger measure of political, economic and social justice which the Constitution of the United States guarantees."

Yes, let us uphold the Constitution and thank God for that greatest of all charters of human rights. If it were to be adopted today, we doubt whether it would guarantee, as it does, the principles of civil, religious and personal liberty, providing equality for all men under the law. The Ku Klux Klan or any other organization that would deny these rights and privileges to any race or any creed, is working to overthrow the sublime principles of freedom for which countless lives were sacrificed in the civil war and to forge again the chains of slavery for the negroes. And in doing this they have the audacity to call themselves Americans.

SAVING THE RUSSIANS

MINSK, Russia, Dec. — From Alaska to Africa; Toronto to Texas, Paterson to Palestine; from seven different countries, four different continents, and from 21 different cities in 21 different states, came the orders to Minsk, the capital of White Russia, to deliver in a single day, food packages of American products, to 217 individuals residing in this part of Soviet Russia. These were delivered over the counter to as many beneficiaries.

The above despatch shows what the world is doing for Russia. Further elaboration of the news indicates that of the entire number about 200 were from the United States. From New York alone there were 112. But for the aid from America, victims of starvation in Russia under the benign rule of the Bolsheviks, would have been vastly greater.

If the shortage is due to broken down locomotives and disabled freight cars, then it is time for the government to step in and compel the railroads to hire men to make the necessary repairs. The pike, though greedy and fond of heavy meals, is slow growing, and is believed to live longer than any other species of fish. A Swiss naturalist has recorded the history of one that was 26 years old. It had spent its entire existence as a prisoner in a fish pond.

A Thought
Let your children be as many flowers, borrowed from God, as the flowers are either, thank God for a summer loan of them.—Rutherford.The Servant Question
"Don't you find it awfully hard to persuade servants to stay out here in the country?" asked a work-out visitor. "Hard to keep them?" was the answer of his host "why we have hard work to persuade them to come out over Sunday."Sardine Hunter
Mr. Wombat was just starting for home with his catch when when his wife telephoned and asked him to bring home six boxes of sardines. The grocer was very busy, so Mr. Wombat helped himself from the shelves, paid his cashier and went out without having the goods wrapped. He then caught a smile of two as he went out, but he didn't get the complete picture, until a friend called him. "Well, John, you're a good hunter!" "Uh-huh." "Been out shooting sardines, I see?"Terrible Threat
Two venerable theologians, an Episcopalian rector about 80 years old, and a minister of the Presbyterian church, who was somewhat younger, were very friendly despite their differences in faith. The high churchman had always referred to his friend as "Father." In the course of a sermon the rector succeeded the "father" in the Presbyterian church title. But the new rector did not like it. "See here, Dr. Smith," said the late rector, one day, "for some time now you have been asking me to stop calling me 'father.' If you do it again I shall call you 'mother' and if, after that, you do it again, I shall call you grandmother!"Forming Habit
The lawsuit was progressing slowly. Led by learned counsel for the prosecution was trying to explain to a witness, who happened to be a doctor, the nature of a miracle. "He can't understand you," said the witness, "from the fifth floor of a building hit the pavement, and then got up and walked home, what you think that would be?" "Well sir, an accident," was the reply. "Well sir, an accident," said the witness, "understand me. If, for instance, I have again from the fifth story and again you walked home what would that be?" "A coincidence, sir." "My dear man," postulated the learned lawyer, "think again. You fell from the fifth floor for a third time and walked home without the slightest possible scratch, what would you call that?" "Well, sir, I think it would be a habit."He Didn't Bounce
W. C. Laddie of the Kansas Farmers' union said during the agricultural conference in Washington: "When people try to tell me that the middleman helps the farmer, tell them to return the story of the rat race. A fat actor had to jump from a 12-foot pole to a piece of ground that was hidden behind the scenes, so he gave a brawny super-quarter to be there to catch the fat actor to leap, and, looking and seeing that the fat actor was on the spot, he sprang carelessly into the void, as if 12 feet were no more to him than 2 inches. Down he sailed swiftly through the air, and—crash! he struck the hard floor with terrible impact. For the super, skipping back, had fallen moaned when he could speak at last. 'I wanted to,' said the super, 'but you didn't bounce.'STAGE LIGHTS
William A. Brady, theatrical producer, claims our critics are over-estimating the players from Moscow Art theatre who have made quite a sensation in New York.

Brady champions the American stage as second to none in the world in the number of fine artists it has produced. He thinks the Moscow players look better largely because they come from abroad.

Psychologically, this sounds plausible. It is true as ever that distance lends enchantment to the view.

RARITY
A single postage stamp, issued by a postmaster before the first government postal issue in 1847, brings $631 at auction. It would have sold for $1750 if it hadn't had a crease and a too closely trimmed margin.

Yet the stamp itself is absolutely useless. Value depends on utility, beauty, sentimental associations and in the case of this stamp—rarity.

The desire to possess something rare is sheer vanity. That is why so many people over-value their own importance.

RADIO PHOTOS
Photographs, sent by wireless, are being received in Washington, D. C., in the laboratory of the inventor, C. Francis Jenkins. Their transmission, on the NOF wave length of 425 meters, may have been heard by many and improperly called static. Unconsciously, to "hear photographs." Quite plainly the Jenkins process has sent pictures of President Harding and others.

Jenkins' goal is radio movies. With good health, you should see them before 1930.

Even if storekeepers have to handle bag coal at a meager profit for a few weeks, it would be in poor taste for them to kick. Those who refuse to supply coal may not be asked to supply some other necessities. The people who are obliged to buy coal at 20 cents per bag are in sore straits for fuel and deserve sympathy. Storekeepers who would add to their difficulties would be open to serious criticism.

There is reason to believe that there will be something doing in the hotel line during the coming summer. The necessity of a first class hotel to make Lowell a convention city is everywhere admitted. MAN ABOUT TOWN

One of the most welcome pieces of advertising that I receive came the other day when I was home. Every bit of coal has gone into the jaws of the boiler and I was trying to keep a fire hot in the house by burning wood. I opened the bundle and out fell the first seed catalog of the year. This little highly colored booklet seemed to dispel the clouds of gloom that had gathered over me and brightened the outlook considerably. Just to look at the pictures of ripe vegetables, of beautifully colored "sweet peas," and of the garnishes brought forward in mind the thoughts of spring. If one were a believer in Cone this little reminder of spring would not be necessary, all that would be needed would be: "Day by day, in every way, I'm getting warmer and warmer." I do not believe in Cone but evidently it would be a good subject for him since I am influenced by a catalog of seeds and bulbs.

During the recent Winter Carnival at Fort Hill there came into the possession of the police, a batch of miniature newspapers entitled, "The Jobless, Organ of the Unemployed in America," which is one of the worst pieces of yellow journalism I have yet seen. The paper can be construed as nothing but I.W.W. or socialist propaganda, and while it purports to lend assistance to the working man, it is beneath the surface, a disguised bit of Bolshevikism, which would not be given one iota of consideration by the real man who works for a real living. I quote the following: "The war that was to be the last one is over. But there is nothing like being prepared for the next one. Soviet Russia is still there, in spite of all the conspiracies the capitalist governments entered into to destroy it. It looks as if workers have learned to look up to a government of their own and run it." Of course, the paragraph says nothing of present conditions in "the government of their own" over there.

Reliable statistics show every ball team will win the pennant.

Rumor that girls will wear knickerbockers is three years old this spring.

A big store in New York city advertises "canine accoutrements." The old way of putting it was "dog collars, muzzles, etc." Such description is becoming obsolete in our age of fancy vases. Vase factories are masquerading as "pottery studios." The plain store has become a "showroom." Political rings call themselves "clubs." The barber is a tonsorial artist and the toothpick a shaft artist. This is a great age for verbal foolishness.

It is a strange coincidence that the lecture at high school Monday morning by Dr. Simpson should be on the Schick test for diphtheria, and that the originator of that test should be visiting Boston for the first time, the same week, as I quote from a dispatch: "Dr. Bela Schick of Vienna, originator of the Schick test for diphtheria, will be in Boston this week.

He will be the guest of the city of Boston, of the state, and of the Harvard Medical school, at a luncheon in the Hotel Lenox on the evening of Feb. 8. This is Dr. Schick's first visit to Boston. He is an Austrian and while a professor in pediatrics at the University of Vienna he discovered the test which bears his name and which has been the means of saving the lives of thousands of children."

BUNTING CO. EMPLOYES HOLD DANCING PARTY

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—The "Pure Coal" bill, introduced by Senator Walsh of Massachusetts, yesterday was reported favorably from the senate committee on education and labor, of which Senator Walsh is a member.

The bill authorizes the secretary of commerce to establish by regulations standards of size, equality and condition for anthracite. After the establishment of these standards it would be unlawful for any person to ship in interstate or foreign commerce, anthracite not of any grade fixed by the rule of such standard grade under the name of any other grade so fixed.

Penalties would be provided for the violation of the proposed law and any one found guilty could be fined not more than $1000 or imprisoned for not more than one year or both.

Senator Walsh has been aroused by the reports from New England that coal of an inferior grade, that contains a great amount of impurities and which is not capable of being used as fuel, is being sold.

ALL UP FOR THE "LOWELL FOLLIES"

The "Lowell Follies" promises to be an eye-opener when the training of candidates is completed and the leading girls are ready to put on the big show at Keith's theatre during the week of Feb. 19.

Florence Ziegfeld glorified the American girl when he put on those famous "Follies" in old New York, but wait until he hears of the Ben Pickett style "Follies" and girls display to be staged soon after all candidates are listed and selected. Training will be given each and everyone on how to appear in public and entertain.

No less than 40 Lowell girls are to be selected and trained by a Broadway producer, who is now in Lowell meeting all comers. More than 20 names were registered today, and more are on the way. Numerous young ladies who can sing and dance and who are well equipped with good looks and graceful ways, are anxious to join "The Follies" and entertain Lowell and suburban theatre-goers.

Advance Man Heller, handling the Lowell mail correspondence, made formal announcement of the coming "Follies" show to yesterday's patrons of Keith's. He will be at the theatre all this week, outlining the work for the applicants who call and explaining all details about the coming production.

The "Lowell Follies" will be staged here just as it has been shown in half a dozen New York theatres before thousands of patrons. It is a most pretentious production throughout and sure to delight Lowell theatre-goers. The large investiture of costumes alone indicates the size and beauty of the proposed presentation. There will be five changes in all.

With the presentation of the "Follies," there will also be staged a genuinely interesting popularity contest for members of the Lowell cast. Each and every person in Lowell will have an opportunity to pick his or her favorite. The battle of ballots will undoubtedly be a lively one from start to finish. Details in full concerning this great feature will be announced a little later.

All young ladies desirous of appearing in the "Lowell Follies" should call at the Keith's box office at once, or mail applications before it is too late. For these young ladies:

It may be that Lowell will provide a real stage star with the right sort of personality and stage presence, and if so, there are opportunities for remunerative work on the Keith's circuit.

Compromise Reached on Memel Situation

LONDON, Feb. 6.—A provisional compromise has been reached between the Lithuanian government and the entente ministers at Kovno for the regulation of the situation in Memel, pending decision of that territory's future either by the ambassadors' conference or the League of Nations, says the diplomatic correspondent of the Telegraph today. AMERICAN LEGION POST MEETING

Commander Joseph Molloy presided at a cousing meeting of Lowell Post 37, American Legion, in the new quarters last evening. The commander called attention to the fact that the quarters in the Veterans' wing are now open for use as a club room and urged their use. Tickets were distributed for the banquet and "get-together" to be held next Monday.

The committee on entertainment reported on several future events scheduled. On motion of Chaplain W. F. McLean, O.M.I., a vote of thanks was passed to the Washington club for the generous gift of a phonograph for use in the Legion clubrooms. Editor Williams of the Boston Transcript, a long-time friend of Legionaries, is coming soon to address the Lowell veterans. H. B. Legg announced the formation of a glee club.

FATHER LOVE FAILS IN MURDER CASE

By N.E.A. Service
MEMPHIS, Tenn., Feb. 6.—Through the ages, mother-love has won for erring children, has been allowed to sacrifice self. It has been idealized in poetry and song, has achieved the title of world's greatest ideal. But unusual, unidealized father-love passes unnoticed.

And now when a father attempts to make a supreme sacrifice for his son, his sacrifice is refused.

The test came in the trial here of John W. Hudson, Jr., for the murder of John M. Ferguson.

Here is the story from its beginning.

Hudson, Jr. evidence shows, became the intimate friend of Mrs. Ferguson, though he was legally bound to a wife and was father of a boy, 2, and though she, likewise was a wife and mother.

Woman Vanishes
On February 8, 1922, Mrs. Ferguson went for a ride with Hudson. Then she vanished. No one knew her fate until—

Her body two months later was fished from a stream. A gaping bullet hole above her eye told how she had met death.

Hudson, Jr., was sought. In July he was seized as a traffic violator in Chattanooga and was identified through a police bulletin photograph.

On the train en route to Memphis young Hudson told officers, they say, that he killed Mrs. Ferguson.

"She was the only woman I ever loved," they quote him as saying. "We quarreled while keeping a rendezvous. I shot to frighten her. The bullet took effect."

Tried for Murder

Hudson, Jr., was put on trial for murder.

In the course of the trial Hudson Sr., 58, hobbled to the witness stand and confessed in open court he had fired the shot that killed Mrs. Ferguson when he was striving to wrest a revolver from her grasp.

Despite that, the jury, within an hour found Hudson, Jr., guilty of murder and voted death in the electric chair.

Attorneys of Hudson, Jr., now have appealed to the supreme court.

Will father-love win? Will the aged man be permitted to give up his few remaining years of life that his son may live?

That now rests with the supreme court—and if the supreme court says no, possibly with Tennessee's governor.

FIERY, ITCHY ECZEMA HEALED RIGHT UP BY APPLYING SULPHUR

Any breaking out of the skin, even fiery, itching eczema, can be quickly overcome by applying a little Menth-Sulphur, says a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, this sulphur preparation instantly brings ease from skin irritation, soothes and heals the eczema, etc., and leaves the skin clear and smooth.

It seldom fails to relieve the torment and disfigurement. Sufferers from skin trouble should get a little jar of Menth-Sulphur from any good druggist and use it like a cold cream—Adv.

ELECTION RIOTS IN MONTREAL

30 Persons Arrested and Number of Others Sent to the Hospital

MONTREAL, Feb. 5.—Rioting, theft, assault and fraud attended the Montreal balloting today in the provincial general elections. At noon time 30 persons charged with various offenses were in jail and a number of others were in hospitals.

Fifteen men, said to have taken part in a riot in the St. Lawrence division, during which Antonio Tarte, the deputy election officer was seriously injured, his ballot boxes stolen and the polling place demolished, were jailed. Destruction of the polling place ended voting for the day in the division.

Adolphe L'Archeveque, opposition candidate in Mercier, caused the arrest of 12 men who had carried lists of dead men they intended to impersonate in the voting.

Three members of a mob that broke into the office of Secretary Bourdonnier of the Montreal Tramways Union and seized lists of election officers and polling locations, were arrested. Bourdonnier said the lists had been entrusted to him by the authorities.

ON SOUTHERN CRUISE

Dr. Alling and Dr. Leahy to Go to South America With College of Surgeons

When the S. S. Van Dyke of the Lamport-Holt Line sails for South American ports next Saturday, carrying exclusively members of the American College of Surgeons, Dr. Marshall L. Alling and Dr. George A. Leahy of Lowell will be on board, they having chosen to take the wonderful trip planned and fostered by the college this year.

The party, numbering several hundred, have chartered the Van Dyke especially for the trip, which will extend as far to the southward as Buenos Ayres and will consume in actual time nine weeks, from New York to New York. Dr. Alling and Dr. Leahy will leave Lowell on Thursday.

The College of Surgeons, formerly restricted in membership to American surgeons only, in late years has branched out considerably until now it embraces prominent medical men in Central and South America, which, in a measure, accounts for the trip to be taken this year.

The travelers from New York will live on the Van Dyke the entire trip and will combine business with pleasure. Interesting side trips have been included in the itinerary, including a stop in the Panama Canal zone where some members of the party will participate in the unveiling of the Gorgas memorial. Every other day there will be a clinic on board and meetings in the interest of the advancement of medical and surgical sciences have been planned for a number of cities to be touched after the canal zone is left behind. There will be stops in Colombia, Brazil and the Argentine, with Buenos Ayres as the turning point.

READY TO TALK MATTERS OVER

France Will Confer if Germany Comes Forward in the Proper Spirit

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—Jules J. Jusserand, French ambassador, declared in a public address here today before a body of women that France was "ready to talk matters over" if Germany came forward in the proper spirit.

"France," he said, quoting from Premier Poincaré's speech of yesterday, "does not seek the economic ruin of Germany though Germany sought the economic ruin of France."

That once understood, he German ambassador said, there would be peace which France would welcome.

FARRAR-TELLEGREN CASE

Referee Mahoney Moved by Plea of Newspapermen for Admittance

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—Efforts of newspapermen to hear testimony in the divorce suit of Geraldine Farrar against Leo Tellegen today caused postponement of the hearing.

The newspapermen sent Referee Thomas H. Mahoney a plea for admittance which so moved him that he announced the hearings would be conducted publicly unless Supreme Justice Cahalan, who referred the case to him, ruled otherwise.

If then postponed the hearing so-journers for the stage celebrities could put the question of secrecy up to the court.

The referee said he knew of no reason why the hearing should be private, but that he would entertain a motion for privacy if counsel desired to make one. Farrar's lawyer immediately made such a motion, declaring the case already had been "aired too much in the newspapers" and that both sides desired to avoid publicity.

Referee Mahoney put the case over until tomorrow, advising the lawyers to consult Justice Cahalan.

ANNUAL TOWN MEETING

Snappy Verbal Exchanges at

Tewksbury Meeting—Nearly

$100,000 Appropriated

It wouldn't be a genuine town meeting in Tewksbury without a formal opening discharge of verbal fireworks between opposing town factions, with few personally-named sharpshirts of impressive caliber hitting numerous visual-targets besides.

That is why the town hall is always crowded on town meeting day, as it was yesterday, and why the voters, men and women, were prepared for (and were not disappointed by) the annual sparkling debate over Tewksbury highway appropriations, improvements and expenditures with Read Commissioner John T. Gale behind the breastworks bravely defending all past performances and denouncing anybody in or outside of the old home town to cast any aspersions upon his record as a self-sacrificing commissioner and get away with it.

The morning session was devoted to numerous highly meritorious discussions of various questions of more or less importance. The first explosion came when the matter of investigating the crowded conditions of the Foster school came up for discussion. The debate was nothing compared with the controversy that followed when Article 20 was taken up, "to see if the town will vote to have the fire chief attend to the fire chief's duties and do nothing for the department duties."

Feeding the controversial flames with brittle and innumerable materials of a verbal nature, was the easiest thing in the world. The morning, with more than a dozen men and women attacking or defending the present town fire department chief, A. S. Haines, and denouncing the motives of the person who inserted the article in the warrant.

John T. Gale, road commissioner, pleaded fidelity to the charge of putting the article in the 1923 warrant and then criticing the real drivers.

Finally the matter was disposed of by passing over, but not until more than one leading citizen had paid either his respects to Mr. Haines or to Mr. Gale and told the voters about what was thought of the gentleman one way or another.

Another Heated Discussion

Article 20, to see if the town will vote that no automobile or carriage belonging to private parties shall enter any building belonging to the town, caused a most heated discussion of the activities of the town officials, including the selectmen. Mr. Gale said he was also responsible for this article, but denied that he was playing "any game" or trying to "show up" anybody. He said he wanted to stop the practice of people keeping their automobiles in the town garage without authority.

He had heard of instances where men had used the property freely without any charges and by permission of the "friendly" selection. The Gale statement was denied by several voters and the article was "indefinitely postponed."

One man previously admitted keeping his automobile there one week, but said the town had the use of it and paid him five dollars for the loan. The only car housed in the garage now belongs to Fire Chief Haines, according to a statement made by Harris M. Briggs, town warden who also had his car in the garage at one time, but got paid for it.

It would hardly be a real Tewksbury town meeting if Melvin G. Rogers of Lowell and Tewksbury was not elected moderator. And so he was re-elected again this year—for the 12th consecutive time—and received a most cordial greeting as he picked up the old familiar Tewksbury town meeting gavel of historic fame and pounded sharply for order at 9 o'clock. Peter W. Cameron, town clerk, also for 12 years and a mighty good one, too, occupied his usual seat in the rear of the moderator. Mr. Cameron's excellent annual report was accepted unanimously. It is always a model for reference purposes and Mr. Cameron rather enjoys making it up and keeping everything ready for quick perusal on the part of any voter at any hour of the year.

Chairman E. H. King of the finance committee, presented his annual report and made the following recommendations of appropriations for the coming year:

Street lighting, balance and $3000; library, $600; highways, balance and $7500; schools, $12,500; police, $1500; board of health, $375; stationery and printing, $500; salaries, $2050; park commission, $300; tree warden, $50; poor, balance and $2500; fire department, $2000; high school and $2500; assessors, $1500; vocational school, $2500.

At the meeting session, reports of numerous town offices and committees were read and accepted. Several were laid over for further action for further debate. The town voted to authorize the treasurer, with the approval of the selection, to borrow money in anticipation of the revenue of the current financial year. It was voted to pay one and one-half per cent of the amount of taxes collected to the collector for his work of gathering the tax money.

Minor appropriations included money for suppression of the gipsy and brown-tail moths, the town being given authority to borrow, if necessary, a sum not exceeding one twenty-fifth of one per cent of the current year's valuation. The sum of $225 was appropriated for the observance of Memorial day. The selection were authorized to institute suits on behalf of the town or defend any suits that are or may be brought against the town. One hundred and fifty dollars were appropriated for demonstration work in agriculture and home economics.

The matter of raising money for the purchase of a $6,000 truck for the highway department was postponed. Action on the proposition to sell the town horses was also put over.

Hot arguments followed the reading of Article 11, to establish a fee of road commissioners. Charges and counter-charges were distributed freely. TO BECOME VISCOUNT

Chas. E. Pellew to Renounce American Citizenship and Return to England

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—Charles Ernest Pellew, only surviving son of Henry Edward Pellew, who died here last night, announced today he would renounce his American citizenship and return soon to England to sit in the house of lords as Viscount of Exmouth, a title inherited last August by his father.

Mr. Pellew, who is 50 years of age, was born in England, but came to the United States as a youth with his father. He served as a captain of volunteers during the Spanish-American war. He was for many years a professor in chemistry at Columbia university, residing since his retirement in New York city. His wife was Miss Margaret Chandler, of New York.

Henry Edward Pellew was 94 years of age when he inherited the British title through the death of a great nephew and declined to return to England because of his advanced age, reserving his rights as an American citizen. He was married to Miss Elizabeth Jay, granddaughter of John Jay, first chief justice of the United States and whose death was married to her sister, Miss Augustus Jay. He was the grandson of Edward Pellew, first viscount of Exmouth and successor to Lord Nelson as vice admiral of England.

Mr. Pellew has resided in this country almost continuously since 1871. He will be buried here.

FURTHER RESTRICTION OF IMMIGRATION

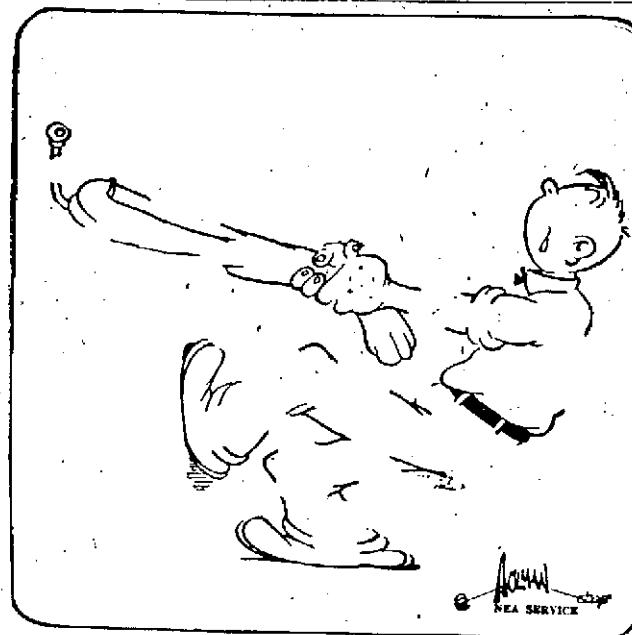

BOSTON, Feb. 5.—Emanon de Valera in a letter to the editors of the Irish World, made public yesterday, says that "the greatest of all the many crimes English statesmen have committed against Ireland was that committed by Lloyd George in December, 1921, when under the threat of immediate and terrible war he compelled the signatures of our delegates to an impossible 'treaty.'"

The letter says in part: "They (delegates) had gone voluntarily to meet England's demands to the farthest limit which the national honor and the principles for which we stood permitted. By infamous threats Mr. Lloyd George forced the delegates

Jack Daw in Toyland. Chapter 6

It was great fun gliding along on the scooter, but this fun suddenly ended as Jack heard the toy policeman shout, "Hold on there, you're going to crash into the dolls' pushball game." Then Jack looked around a show case and saw many dolls pushing a great rubber ball all around.

He watched this game for a few minutes and then asked if he might join in. "Oh, you're too big," shouted a wee little doll. "Well," replied Jack, "to make it more fair, I'll play on one side and all of you play on the other." The dolls all agreed and gathered in a big group.

"Now we'll see who can push the ball best, all of you together, or just me alone," shouted Jack, and the game was on. Flip stood on the side and watched for a time. Then he joined the dolls and hoisted the ball right over Jack's head. "You win," shouted Jack. (Continued.)

HOME BUILDING
EXPERIMENT

Worcester Man Tells Why
Experiment Trial in Lowell
Was a Failure

Mr. Miller Says Homestead
Commission Was Hostile
to the Idea

(Special to The Sun) BOSTON, Feb. 5.—Charged that the state's experiment in home building, begun at Lowell several years ago, was a failure because the commission in charge was hostile to the idea, were made before a legislative committee today by George H. Miller, representing the Worcester Central Labor union.

Mr. Miller declared that the members of the homestead commission built the Lowell houses small—so small, in fact, that "a man had to put his feet out the window in order to sit on his trousers." Their purpose, "he said was to make the houses ridiculous in order to put an end to the experiment."

The Worcester man advocated a bill permitting each city and town to enter into the business of home building, extending financial aid to their citizens during the early years, and with payments during that time which would give the holder such an equity in the property that a savings bank could then take a mortgage.

Charles J. Hodson, legislative agent for the state branch of the American Federation of Labor, also advocated the bill, calling attention particularly to the desirability of having homes erected outside the thickly settled centers, areas where there is room for gardens, etc.

Another supporter was H. Murray Pakulski, assistant corporation counsel for the city of Boston, who appeared by order of Mayor Curley to give his support to the measure. City Selectmen Peter J. Nelligan of Cambridge also spoke in favor of the measure, as did many representatives of labor organizations. There was no opposition.

FIVE INJURED, ONE FATALLY IN WRECK

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Feb. 6.—Five persons were injured, one fatally, in a wreck on the Big Four railroad at St. Mary's, six miles west of here, when passenger train No. 46, bound St. Louis to New York, struck an open freight train. Ernest McDonald, fireman, and T. M. Denham, engineer, both of Indianapolis, were seriously injured. McDonald was burned probably fatally. Three mail clerks were slightly injured. The mail cars and coaches were derailed, but none of the passengers was injured, it was said.

NEW COKE NEEDED FOR CITY WATER FILTERS

Speaking today of the inclusion in the 1923 estimates of an item of $10,000 for new coke at the city water filters, Superintendent Gardner said the need of a new bed of coke is most urgent and unless given sufficient money to cover its cost this year, water for domestic uses will suffer.

The bed of coke now in use is the same as laid when the filtration plant was opened in 1915 and although it was said at that time the coke would function properly for upwards of 20 years, actual experience has shown it has outlived its usefulness in less than eight years. Iron in the water pumped from wells has acted upon the coke so as to harden it into a compact mass through which water will not filter properly and the only relief now is a new bed, for which $10,000 is being asked this year.

For the past year or more employees of the department have been obliged to drive holes through the coke to allow the water to filter, but in this manner it is not cleaned to a proper degree, for the reason that holes thus punched let water through the bed too rapidly.

VERY PRETTY PICTURE

Excellent Entertainment Under Auspices of League of Catholic Women

"We are gathered here tonight, good friends, to meet Old Father Time; To jolly him's little with old time song and rhyme Instead of rushing onward in our busy modern way We are going to roll the curtain back to a long forgotten day."

And when the curtain was rolled back in the Memorial Auditorium last night, the League of Catholic Women presented one of the most novel and original programs of entertainment that has graced the stage of Lowell's amphitheatre this season. In the presence of an unusually large and appreciative gathering of men and women, 65 young dancers, superbly instructed by Miss Charlotte M. Green, and elaborately costumed under the direction of Mrs. Alcide A. Parent, pleasingly interpreted the fascinating steps of yesterday, including the "Minuet," the "Beautiful Blue Danube," "Caprice," "Sweetheart Galop" and the "Virginia Reel."

In their appealing colonial costumes, and powdered wigs, the little participants in the opening number, "Minuet," provided the Auditorium stage with the best possible "property" the eyes of the audience could wish for. Perfect piano accompaniment of Miss Alcide Parent, the dancers executed the appropriate steps in admirable fashion and fully merited the encore accorded them.

A special feature on the program was introduced when the charming 7-year-old Mary Josephine O'Donnell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James J. O'Donnell, rendered, with perfect enunciation and gesture, the recitation, "Grandma's Lullaby," being a diary of grandma's tonic long ago. Mary Josephine was beautiful in her revolutionary costume, and a huge bouquet of roses was given her as a testimonial of her extreme cleverness.

The next number, "The Blue Danube Waltz," was pretty as the name was, with "Caprice" and "Sweetheart Galop," featuring Pauline and Esther Meloy. In each number the various gowns of fanciful design added splendor to the scene and kept the large audience enthralled. The "Virginia Reel" girls and boys in the former and fairer costumes concluded the first part of the program.

After a brief intermission, the moving picture curtain was lowered and song slides projected on the screen. The familiar tunes of a past generation were sung by the assembly under the capable direction of Mr. Herbert Proctor of Lawrence. Miss Ruth Bolger accompanied. John F. Reamy, Sr., in a pleasing voice, sang "Silver Threads Among the Gold," as it was sung when the piece was in its prime. The audience immediately took up the chorus and filled the Auditorium with an inspiring musical atmosphere.

"When You and I Were Young, Maggie," was Timothy Flanagan's well-chosen contribution to the program, and judging by the enthusiasm with which the assembly joined in the chorus, "Maggie" is still young in the hearts of old-time music lovers.

Charles J. Keyes, in his original rendition of "Old Black Joe," sang with that customary vigor so well known to local audiences and, costumed in the garb of the southern "darky," he gave a splendid interpretation of the famous character.

While the soloist sustained the chorus the audience could not resist the temptation to join in, and so the strains of the great southern melody reverberated throughout the structure harmoniously.

The "Good Night Ladies" by the girls' assembly concluded the evening's entertainment, so well arranged under the direction of the president of the league, Miss John T. Donohue.

WASHINGTON INFORMED GERMAN RESISTANCE STEADILY GROWING

Berlin Officially Denies Report of Modification of Resistance to French Occupation—Industrialists Confident of Carrying on and at Same Time Prevent French From Getting Anything Worth While

(By the Associated Press) The policy of resistance to the French occupation of the Ruhr valley has not been modified but is growing steadily stronger the German government declared through its embassy in Washington today.

Managers of big industries in the valley express confidence in their ability to carry on and at the same time prevent the French from getting anything worth while out of the district however effectively they might occupy it militarily.

The immense Thyssen plants in the Ruhr and vicinity, employing some 65,000 men, are declared by the management not to have been affected by either the railroad or coal strikes. The plants are working full time, mining their own fuel as do many other big industries in the valley.

The railroad strike seems again largely effective in the Ruhr and important districts in the Rhineland. Navigation on the Rhine from Ruhr valley points is reported at a complete standstill.

Chancellor Cuno, head of the Berlin government, is on a visit to the occupied Ruhr area, where he has been holding conferences and informing himself on the situation from personal observation.

Hugo Stinnes, seen by interviewers at Essen, would not reveal whether the conferences he is holding on his surprise visit to the Ruhr are with a view to negotiations for settlement of the reparation differences.

Several persons were injured in a demonstration at Dorsten, broken up by the German police.

No details have followed the reported advance of the French in a new area, 25 miles beyond the German frontier into Hesse, where they were said to have occupied Goddelau. The move was in the direction of Mammheim, which the Germans momentarily expected the French would occupy, the interviewers say.

MOVE TO KEEP 1923 SALARIES OF DEPARTMENT HEADS AT PRESENT LEVEL

It was stated today upon good authority that there will be an attempt to keep salaries for department heads for 1923 upon the same plane they are at present. This would mean that salaries paid in 1922 will continue in effect and requests for increases by the city treasurer, city collector and chief of the fire department automatically would be nullified.

It is believed a motion to this effect will be offered as one means of disposing of the salary question; whether it will prevail is another question. It is known that the commissioners favor the appointment of a salary committee to study the question, give hearings to officials who desire increases and report their recommendations to the council.

Press James J. Gallagher will favor the appointment of such a committee, he said today as he believes that method the fairest one for all concerned.

"Whether requests or provisions for salary increases are justified should be passed upon by a special committee," he said. "A committee could be named and might could meet tomorrow and the council might meet again Thursday evening to hear its report and act upon it."

Department heads who have made provisions for salary increases in estimates will be asked to the city treasurer, city collector and chief of the fire department automatically would be nullified.

NO DANGER OF GAS EXPLOSION HERE

Since the explosion last week of the gas purifying plant at Springfield there has been considerable talk around town concerning the possibility of such an explosion occurring here. General Manager Pritchard of the Lowell Gas Light company made the following statement today so that there would be no further cause for worry in this regard:

"So far as we are able to learn, from newspaper reports, and other information which we have been able to secure from men who have been on the scene, conditions at Springfield are entirely different than they are at Lowell. In the first place, the Springfield plant, as we understand it, is located practically in the heart of the business section. The Lowell Gas Light company's plant, on the contrary, is

Morse Brothers' Sons of Chas. W. Morse, Pulled From Beds on Pullman

Were Arrested in New York on Way to Washington to Face Trial for Conspiracy

Arraigned and Held in $15,000 on Charge of Using Mails to Defraud

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—Victims of a sensational arrest in the Pullman that was taking them to Washington for trial for war frauds, Benjamin and Harry F. Morse were arraigned before Federal Judge Winslow here today on charges of conspiring with Charles W. Morse, their father, and 21 other defendants to use the mails to defraud steamship stock purchasers.

"They refused to plead on the ground that they had not had time to consult but the court ordered a tentative plea of guilty entered for them and sent them to jail until they could raise $15,000 bail each."

The arrests, staged at Pennsylvanian Terminal, where they had been trailed from New England by department of justice agents, brought an abrupt end to two strenuous court sittings to escape trial here.

Pullman passengers were asleep at 2 a. m. when their federal agents yanked the covers off the pair, exposing them to the frosty morning air. Both emitted yells of surprise.

When a newspaper photographer set off a flash in the federal building as the brothers were being led to the court room, Benjamin jumped almost free of his escort, exclaiming:

"What's that? God Lord, that's the second time this morning I've been started out of my wits. It's no joke to be hauled out of your bed at 2 a. m. and yanked through the streets to a marshal's office."

RUBBER PAVEMENTS TO PREVENT NOISE

BOSTON, Feb. 6.—Complaints of noisy motor vehicles were met with the suggestion of rubber pavements at a legislative hearing today. John Brown, Jr., of Hamilton, who said that he appeared at the request of his wife because she and her neighbors had been greatly disturbed by the noise of motor traffic through the North Shore town, asked for legislation to prohibit the running through Hamilton of motor trucks which made "unreasonable" noise.

Ray Baker, representing automobile interests, said it was necessary for the trucks to use devices to prevent skidding and that if the Hamilton residents desired less noise, they ought to build rubber roads, as had been done in some European cities.

FLAMES DRIVE EIGHT FAMILIES FROM SUFFOLK STREET BLOCK

Two Alarms Sounded For Fire in Dangerous Neighborhood This Afternoon—Firemen Work For Two Hours to Overcome Dense Clouds of Smoke That Poured From Many Tenements

Fire this afternoon in a large tenement block at 186 Suffolk street, owned by Nicholas Cazzan, drove eight families into the street, swept through the upper floors of the building and caused property damage that will amount to several thousands of dollars. Two alarms were sounded and the firemen worked for nearly two hours before the blaze was drowned out.

The tenement block is in a closely congested district and although accessible from three sides, it was in such close proximity to other dwellings that the danger of a serious conflagration was not overcome until the entire property had been flooded with water. The building extends into an open court for a distance of nearly 100 feet with very narrow frontage on Suffolk street.

The first alarm was discovered in a closet on the first floor in a tenement mid-way in the block and an alarm was sent from Box 113, Lewis and Litch streets at 2:10 o'clock. At 2:15 o'clock firemen still were at work and it was necessary to rip off practically the entire roof before the fire in the attics could be reached. It was under control at this hour, however.

LOWELL FUEL ADMINISTRATOR AND MAYOR DONOVAN DISCUSS LOCAL COAL SITUATION

Mayor Takes Lead in Campaign to Reduce Price of Coal—Many New Facts Contained in Formal Statement Issued Today—City May Establish Small "Coal Depots" About Town—20 Cents for 16-Pound Bag of No. 1 Nut Coal Considered Fair Price

Mayor John J. Donovan this morning took the leadership in the city-wide campaign to reduce the soaring prices of anthracite coal sold in small quantities to suffering Lowell families.

As the result of a conference between the mayor and the fuel administrator, a formal statement covering many new facts in regard to the local coal situation were brought out. It was stated that several Lowell business men had offered to display and sell bags of anthracite to all-comers at actual purchase cost.

The conference at the mayor's office today between His Honor and Fuel Administrator Albert D. Milliken lasted about half an hour.

The new retail price announced by the fuel commission—20 cents for each 16-pound bag of No. 1 nut coal—was called a fair price and no Lowell dealer would be allowed to charge 25 cents as in the past.

Mr. Milliken declared that some of the coal wholesalers who bag coal had stated to him that they could not afford to buy paper bags and string and Morse, his three sons and eight others as defendants.

They are charged with conspiracy to defraud the United States and the Emergency Fleet corporation through wartime shipping contracts involving approximately $10,000,000.

The defendants, besides Charles W. Morse, are Ervin, Benjamin and Harry Morse; Colvin H. Livingston, former president of the Virginia Shipbuilding corporation; George M. Burdett, attorney for the Morse interests; Nathaniel H. Campbell of New York, assistant treasurer of the United States Transport Co., Inc.; Rupert M. Much, Augusta, Ga., assistant treasurer of the Virginia Shipbuilding corporation; W. W. Scott, Washington attorney; Philip Reinhardt, auditor for the United States Fleet corporation at Alexandria, Va.; Leonard D. Christie, treasurer of the Virginia Shipbuilding corporation, and Robert O. White, assistant treasurer of the Groton Iron Works and president of the United States Transport Co., Inc.

The government's investigation into the shipbuilding operations of Morse first came to light when the department of justice asked the navy department to send a destroyer to intercept a French liner carrying Morse to France from New York. Morse agreed to return here, taking the first boat from France after his arrival there in December, 1921, and he was arrested on his return.

Charges made by Morse that the action against him was started "because of personal feeling against him on the part of Attorney General Daugherty and certain shipping board officials" recalled his release in 1912 after having been sentenced in 1908 to serve 15 years in the federal penitentiary at Atlanta for having misappropriated funds of the National Bank of North America in New York.

President Taft commuted the banker's sentence in 1912 on the recommendation of the attorney general based on a report from the surgeon-general of the army which said Morse would die within a month if confined to prison and predicted his death within six months even if released. Mr. Daugherty served as one of his attorneys at that time. Morse's allegations of personal reasons for his indictment were denied by Dist. Atty. Gordon, who had charge of the investigation of his wartime shipbuilding operations.

The indictments involve contracts between the Emergency Fleet Corp. and the Groton Iron Works at Noank, Conn., and the Virginia Shipbuilding Corp. at Alexandria, Va., and charge it was the intention of the defendants to obtain large sums of money from the fleet corporation by falsely representing that they would be used for construction of vessels, and to divert large sums from the ship construction for erection and equipment of plants and housing facilities, thus converting the funds to the use of the shipbuilding corporations and themselves and delaying construction of vessels. Thirty "overt acts" are charged against them in the indictments.

BOSTON, Feb. 6.—Larceny of 100,000 shares of stock valued at $40,000 was charged today against James J. Benelisha at George L. Ware, stock brokers. Neither is a member of the Boston stock exchange. Benelisha surrendered, and Ware was brought to court from Charles street jail, where he was confined on a civil process.

Plan Plant Expansion to Cost $21,000,000

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Feb. 6.—Plans for plant expansion to cost $21,000,000 were referred to by President James T. Moran in his report to the stockholders of the Southern New England Telephone Co., at the annual meeting today. An issuance of $12,000,000 in new capital stock may be required during the next five-year period to carry out the expansion, and $8,000,000 of this may be issued as early as next fall, the report said.

New Grand Jury Probes Flogging

HOUSTON, Tex., Feb. 6.—A new grand jury today began investigation of the whipping Jan. 5 of Mrs. R. A. Harrison and R. A. Armand of Goose Creek. A previous grand jury failed to solve the mystery about the beatings.

Mr. Harrison, attorney for the United States Fleet corporation at Alexandria, Va.; Leonard D. Christie, treasurer of the Virginia Shipbuilding corporation, and Robert O. White, assistant treasurer of the Groton Iron Works and president of the United States Transport Co., Inc.

The government's investigation into the shipbuilding operations of Morse first came to light when the department of justice asked the navy department to send a destroyer to intercept a French liner carrying Morse to France from New York. Morse agreed to return here, taking the first boat from France after his arrival there in December, 1921, and he was arrested on his return.

Charges made by Morse that the action against him was started "because of personal feeling against him on the part of Attorney General Daugherty and certain shipping board officials" recalled his release in 1912 after having been sentenced in 1908 to serve 15 years in the federal penitentiary at Atlanta for having misappropriated funds of the National Bank of North America in New York.

NO ORDINANCES TO BE REPORTED

Whether this year's city council will have an opportunity to vote on the abolition of the civic employment bureau, upon the removal of the water works from under public service board control or upon the division of the charity department, still is a most question and no light will be shed upon it at tonight's meeting.

The council committee on ordinances, Councillor John J. McPadden, chairman, will make only a report of progress tonight, stating what has been accomplished along the line of research, but without making any recommendations or suggesting any ordinances. A number of department heads have been in conference with the committee, which is giving every consideration to recommendations included in the mayor's inaugural address, but insufficient data is at hand upon which a complete report might be framed.

He said his studies led him to the conclusion that a submarine mountain range was forming near the Society Islands. All mountain ranges are formed by the sea through leakage of the earth's crust and movement of the lava beneath, the government astronomer said.

NOTED WOMAN PREACHER

Miss Royden of England Speaks Before Large Audience at Middlesex Club

The solution of all world problems through faith in the divine Creator was the plea made at the Middlesex Women's Club yesterday by Miss Maud Royden, noted woman preacher of England, who spoke before an unusually large audience that numbered many men. She discussed the question, "Can we set the world in order?" and said even this seemingly hopeless task can be accomplished if nations will have the same sublime faith in universal law in the spiritual world that the scientist has in the material world.

Miss Royden fully lived up to her reputation as a forceful preacher of God's word. Although physically small, she has a mentality of particular keenness and a spiritual insight that has made her an international figure.

In part, she spoke as follows: "There is nothing more startling than the attitude of the scientist toward the world in which he lives, in contrast with the statesman, the social reformer. To the scientist, all things seem possible. He will not promise, but he will certainly say that every difficulty has its solution. You will find a sense of almost thrilling expectation, which is in startling contrast with the resignation of the religious and the fatalism of the political view. Discovering the cause of death, the scientist will get rid of disease, and make it possible for men to live where it was not possible before. Science is setting its world in order."

"We like the scientist, begin to feel that it is possible for men to take the world as it is and to make of it what he wishes it to be. Contrast that with the attitude of the politician, who says that you cannot change human nature, that there is something in human nature that compels men to settle their problems through war, and that therefore must prepare for it, that only visionary people dream of a world organized for practical peace."

"Perhaps our despair, our paralysis, is caused by the fact that we have not realized the law of cause and effect, that the spiritual and moral world with which we are in such despair is not yet in order by us because we have never carried over from our science to our theology, this conception of the trustworthiness of law. We know that cause and effect are linked together. If you step over the edge of a precipice, something breaks, but it is not the law of gravitation, it is you. You know that all the wonders of modern applied science is based upon the law of fundamental law. We can master all the forces of the universe, as we learn to understand the laws. But we have never translated that conception into the world of human nature. Rather, we have just begun to do so. The new science has just begun the science of psychology. Psychology is marking a new era in the history of the human race, because when you realize that even the human mind is governed by cause and effect, you begin to have a mastery over yourself. Yet in the world of men there is almost a complete absence of belief in universal law."

"Certain things have been done by the Germans which are very wicked and have led to disaster. But if done by Americans they are not wicked and will not lead to disaster. Yet there is only one God in the world, not two. If the world is governed by universal law, and we believe that God made the world, then surely in God himself there must be universal law, and it must be as impossible to break the laws of God as it is to break the laws of nature. It we really believe that in the beginning God made the heaven and the earth, then surely that science which reveals in heaven and earth immutable, unbreakable law, must show that in the spiritual world the laws are also immutable and unbreakable."

"If you will look at Europe today, I believe you will come to the conclusion that all of our troubles have their cause in the refusal of the world to believe in the universal laws of God. Take some of the great sayings of our Lord and his disciples: If one member suffers, all the members suffer. When the war was over our statesmen met in Paris with the determination to inflict suffering on some part of the human race, without suffering ourself."

selves. So far as human power is concerned, we had had it. But there is no victory in the world, which will enable you to so arrange the people of the world that one member will suffer and not the others.

"God is love. But we set out to build a new world out of hate, and four years after the end of the war we are still in chaos. But still we cannot believe that it is as futile to try to create a new world out of hate, as it is to raise a field of wheat by sowing salt. We tried to make a new world out of a destructive force, and it is as futile, as senseless, as to build this hall on a quagmire and without proper regard for the strength of the walls. Does your architect tell you that the disaster that results is because of the inscrutable will of God? We still believe in a capricious world, and therefore we are paralyzed, exactly as the scientist would be paralyzed if he did not believe in the universal law."

SHOCK MAY CAUSE NEURASTHENIA

Nervous Breakdown Results From Many Causes but Thin Blood Is Most Common

Nervous debility, or neurasthenia, may result from many causes such as intense grief, sudden shock, financial overwork, worry or undue excitement. The most common cause is ill-nourished nerves due to thin blood, anemic condition. When in any of the exciting causes named there is already a condition in which the blood is so thin that it cannot properly nourish the nervous system. A breakdown is almost inevitable. A condition is tonic treatment, that will build up the blood and tone up the nerves.

A nervous breakdown may be caused by grief or a shock to the system. In the case of Mrs. Mary E. Church of No. 45 Brownell street, Somerville, R. I., the two causes contributed. After she had recovered from the shock of a sudden death in the family, the destroyed her home and she suffered for several years from nervous debility as a result of the strain.

"I was nervous all the time," she says, "and my stomach was weak. I could have great attacks that would scare me. One would take me breath away. My heart would pound. I had crying spells and I rarely got a good night's sleep. My appetite was poor and my strength left me. Nothing helped me until I tried Dr. Williams' Pink Pills which I read about. I was not so nervous, then my appetite came back. As I continued to take the pills my strength returned and I was able to sleep soundly. I have great faith in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and can truthfully say that they have been wonderful in building up my health."

These pills are valuable for the blood and nerves. They correct nervous dyspepsia because they revitalize the nerves that control the digestive processes. They are also useful in sick and nervous headache, neuralgia, sciatica and neuritis.

Get a fifty-cent box of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills from your own druggist today and write the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., for a copy of the free booklet "Diseases of the Nervous System."—Adv.

Frank E. Morris, who is to lecture in Liberty hall tonight in the free course being given to overseers and others who are interested in safety and industrial problems, has the reputation of being able to put humor into a serious subject. His topic is "Simple Ways of Getting Hurt," and he is able to tell a man how to pick an accident that will keep him off the job from three to 90 days, as he may prefer. The lecture is the second in the course being given under the auspices of the Associated Industries, the Massachusetts Safety Council, and the Lowell Textile school. Moving pictures will be shown after the lecture. The general public is invited.

SAVE THE MERCHANT MARINE

Perhaps the most important single question before congress at the present time is that of the Ship Subsidy bill which the middle western senators are trying to kill. President Harding has made an appeal for the passage of this measure in order to save the merchant marine and prevent the ships from going into the junk heap or else being sold for a mere fraction of their original cost. Senator Borah and leaders of the farm bloc have declared that they do not care how the commerce of the United States is carried, whether in foreign bottoms or in American. That, in our judgment, is the statement of dangerous demagogues. In some quarters the opposition assumes democratic form and was in a degree fostered by the democratic leaders, apparently through a spirit of opposition to the administration.

It is dangerous business for the democratic party to take any step that might make it responsible for the defeat of the ship subsidy bill even though an administration measure. During the war the United States became the second maritime nation in the world and the question is now, whether congress will decide to hold the nation in this rank; or allow it to go back, either to the very expensive operation under the government shipping board or else sell out the ships for little or nothing. It is stated that over half the United States government fleet, which includes some 874 steel ships, is tied up today and inactive. The administration subsidy measure would provide an annual appropriation not to exceed $30,000,000 to restore this fleet to the seas under private ownership. It is true that this method might be expensive to begin with, but it will be worth all it will cost in order to give the nation a merchant marine that will conduct our commerce with the markets of the world. Unless the bill be enacted, this nation will have to depend in the future upon foreign carriers and be once more dependent upon foreign powers to remove the surplus from our domestic markets which alone can prevent a business depression.

When the war was declared, this country was in a deplorable condition for the lack of a merchant marine. Even the navy had to depend upon foreign ships to fill its bunkers with coal. Without a merchant marine, this nation can never compete in the foreign markets with countries such as England and Japan. It is for this reason that the United States Chamber of Commerce and other influential bodies throughout the country, are in favor of the ship subsidy bill. The fact that it is advocated by President Harding should not justify opposition by the democratic party which built the ships and provided for their operation. The republican policy of high protection is not favorable to the maintenance of the merchant marine for the reason that the nations that cannot sell to the United States do not wish to buy from us. But if the merchant marine can be firmly established only by paying a subsidy, then let the subsidy be paid.

When all the expenses under government operation are considered it is found that the proposed subsidy is much the cheapest and best way yet devised for maintaining the merchant marine. To abandon the project of a merchant fleet and scrap the ships, would be little short of a national calamity.

THE GOVERNOR'S PROCLAMATION

The governor's proclamation setting February 13 as Lincoln day and dealing with the principles of justice, liberty and truth for which Lincoln stood, is an important document and one that should be carefully studied. It is a matter of grave moment to this country that certain classes of men led by religious fanatics or race prejudice, should band themselves together, claiming to be true Americans and to be imbued with patriotic purposes, yet planning and plotting against the liberties and the principles of freedom which Lincoln fought to establish and vindicate. To the advocates of such dangerous doctrines, the following appeal from the governor's proclamation should receive serious consideration:

"Let us remember on that day, especially in Massachusetts, where freedom found its stanchest advocates, that Lincoln desired the colored race to be wholly free. It is an unhappy augury that, after a lapse of 60 years, members of that race are still feeling the mob or bending beneath the burden of unjust racial proscription.

"With firmness in the right, as God gives us to see the right, let us in the spirit of Lincoln accord in fact that larger measure of political, economic and social justice which the Constitution of the United States guarantees."

Yes, let us uphold the Constitution and thank God for that greatest of all charters of human rights. If it were to be adopted today, we doubt whether it would guarantee, as it does, the principles of civil, religious and personal liberty, providing equality for all men under the law. The Ku Klux Klan or any other organization that would deny these rights and privileges to any race or any creed, is working to overthrow the sublime principles of freedom for which countless lives were sacrificed in the civil war and to forge again the chains of slavery for the negroes. And in doing this they have the audacity to call themselves Americans.

SAVING THE RUSSIANS

MINSK, Russia, Dec. 14.—From Alaska to Africa; Toronto to Texas; Paterson to Palestine; from seven different countries, four different continents, and from 21 different cities in 21 different states, came the orders to Minsk, the capital of White Russia, to deliver in a single day, food packages of American products, to 217 individuals residing in this part of Soviet Russia. These were delivered over the counter to as many benevolentaries.

The above despatch shows what the world is doing for Russia. Further elaboration of the news indicates that of the entire number about 200 were from the United States. From New York alone there were 112. But for the aid from America, victims of starvation in Russia under the reign of rule of the Bolsheviks, would have been vastly greater.

WHO'S TO BLAME?

The people want coal. If the shortage is due to broken locomotives and disabled freight cars, then it is time for the government to step in and compel the railroads to hire men to make the necessary repairs. When a vast number of people in this city have to hang around total stores and coal yards seeking an opportunity to purchase sixteen-pound bags of coal,

SEEN AND HEARD

Some men are better than others, but that is easy.

Health hint: Get all run down and you may be wounded.

When you think the kids are noisy just suppose you lived in Holland, where they wear wooden shoes.

Krupp's profits dropped five million in three years. Wouldn't it be terrible if yours did that?

Cincinnati woman, 57, is a fine swimmer except for flailing. It is hard to get her picture in the paper.

A West Virginia street-car conductor has had his wife arrested for refusing to pay her carfare.

A Long Island man who wanted coal wrote to Morea, Penn., for it and had it sent to him by express. The coal was sent in tightly-sealed barrels, and although it weighed somewhat more than a ton he got it at $30 plus the express charges which made it $50 a ton.

The pike, though greedy and fond of herring, can live longer than any other species of fish. A Swiss naturalist has recorded the history of one that was 267 years old. It had spent its entire existence as prisoner in a fish pond.

A Thought

Let your children be as so many flowers, unpruned, growing wild. They flower, die or wither than God for a summer loan of them.—Rutherford.

The Servant Question

"Don't you find it awfully hard to persuade servants to stay out here in the country?" asked the weekend visitor. "How to keep them?" was the answer of his host "why we have hard work to persuade them to come out over Sunday."

Sardine Hunter

Mr. Wombar was just starting for home with his new shotgun when his wife telephoned and asked him to bring back his gun. Mr. Wombar had helped himself from the shelves, paid the cashier and went out without having the goods wrapped. He thought he caught a smile or two as he went along, until a friend called him "well, John, you're a good hunter." "I think I've got shooting sardines," he said.

Terrible Threat

Two venerable theologians, an Episcopalian rector, about 80 years old, and a minister of the Presbyterian church, both of whom are said to be very friendly despite their differences in faith. The high churchman had always liked to be addressed as "Father." In the course of time a new rector succeeded the "father" and the Presbyterian church of high life continued the high church life. The new rector did not like it. "See here, Dr. Smith," said the late rector, one day, "for some time, I have been asking you to stop calling me 'father.' If you do it again I shall call you 'mother,' and if I after that you, no, it again, I shall call you 'grandmother!'"

Forming a Habit

The lawsuit was progressing slowly. Learned counsel for the prosecution was trying to explain to a witness, who happened to be a laborer, the nature of a miracle. "It's counsel began to speak from a window on the fifth floor of a building on the pavement and then got up and walked home, 'What do you think that would be?'" "Well sir, an accident," was the reply. "No," said the lawyer, "you misunderstand me. If, for instance, you fell down the fifth story and again you walked home, what do you think that would be?" "A coincidence, sir," "My dear," extrapolated the learned lawyer, "think again. If you fell from the fifth floor for a third time and walked home without the slightest possible scratch, what would you call that?" "Well, sir, I think it would be a habit."

He Didn't Bounce

W. G. Ladlow of the Kansas Farmers' union, sat during the agricultural conference in Washington. When people try to tell me that the middleman helps the farmer I tell them in return the story of the fat actor. A fat actor had to jump from a 12-foot cliff into the ground that was hidden behind the second story as he gave a brawny super a quarter." "He bounded from him as he bounded. Well, the time came for the fat actor to leap, and looking and seeing that the super was on the spot he sprang carelessly into the void, 12 feet down, not more to his 12 inches. Down he went through the air, and—crash! he struck the hard floor with terrible impact. Not the super, stepping back, had failed him. "Why didn't you catch me?" he moaned when he could speak at last, "I wanted to," said the super, "but you didn't bounce."

STAGE LIGHTS

William A. Brady, theatrical producer, claims our critics are over-estimating the players from Moscow Art theatre who have made quite a sensation in New York.

The government bungled the coal question last summer, and it is now silent, while the railroads in order to maintain a lockout against the shop-workers are doing business in a crippled condition, owing to the vast number of locomotives and freight cars out of commission and awaiting repairs. Vast quantities of coal are shipped to Canada by water, but the people of New England are unable to get enough to enable them to keep warm. Who's to blame?

RARITY

A single postage stamp issued by a postmaster before the first government post office in 1847, brings $631 at auction. It would have sold for $1750 if it hadn't had a crease and a too closely trimmed margin.

Yet the stamp itself is absolutely useless. Value depends on utility, beauty, sentimental associations and—in the case of this stamp—rarity. The desire to possess something rare is sheer vanity. That is why so many people over-value their own importance.

RADIO PHOTOS

Photographs, sent by wireless, are being received in Washington, D. C. In the laboratory of the inventor, C. Francis Jenkins. Their transmission, on the NOF wave length of 425 meters, may have been heard by many and improperly called static. Uncanny, to "hear photographs." Quillo plainly the Jenkins process has sent pictures of President Harding and others.

Jenkins' goal is radio movies. With good health, you should set them before 1930.

Even if storekeepers have to handle bag coal at a meager profit for a few weeks, it would be in poor taste for them to kick. Those who refuse to supply coal may not be asked to supply some other necessities. The people who are obliged to buy coal at 20 cents per bag are in sore straits for fuel and deserve sympathy. Storekeepers who would add to their difficulties would be open to serious criticism.

There is reason to believe that there will be something doing in the hotel line during the coming summer. The necessity of a first class hotel to make Lowell a convention city is everywhere admitted. The chamber of commerce, we understand, is already working on the problem, with prospects of success.

The "Knickers" have certainly aroused the indignation of Miss Emily Skillin, one of our police-women. There would evidently be opposition to any function in which the girls would appear exclusively in knickers.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

One of the most welcome pieces of advertising that I receive comes the other day when I was blue. Every bit of coal had gone into the jaws of the boiler, and I was trying to keep a little heat in the house by burning wood. I opened the bundle and out fell the first need catalogue of the year. This little highly colored booklet seemed to dispel the clouds of gloom that had gathered over me and brightened the outlook considerably. Just to look at the pictures of ripe vegetables, of beautiful, fully colored sweet peas, and of the various blossoms brought forward in mind the thought of spring. If one were a believer in God this little reminder of spring would not be necessary, all that would be needed would be: "Day by day, in every way, I'm getting warmer and warmer." I do not believe in God but evidently I would be a good subject for him since I am influenced by a catalogue of seeds and bulbs.

During the recent Winter Carnival at Fort Hill there came into the possession of the police, a batch of nativistic newspapers entitled, "The Jobless, Organ of the Unemployed in America." One is one of the worst pieces of yellow journalism I have yet seen. The paper can be construed as nothing but I.W.W. or socialist propaganda and while it purports to tend assistance to the working man, it is beneath the surface, a disguised bit of Bolshevism, which would not be given one iota of consideration by the real man who works for a real living. I quote the following: "The war that was to be the last one is over. But there is nothing like being prepared for the next one. Soviet Russia is still there, in spite of all the conspiracies to destroy it. It looks as if workers have learned to put up a government of their own and run it." Of course, the paragraph says nothing of present conditions in the government of their own over there.

Portland, Maine, had about five feet of snow during January. This was the greatest snowfall of any month since the Portland weather bureau was established 10 years ago.

Approving nods will come from the weathermen, who claim that the seasons are not changing and that winters in the northern states are as severe as they used to be, averaged over periods of 10 years each.

Old settlers disagree. They should know, having been on the job before the weather bureaus. Maybe winters are as severe now as they ever were, but seem less so because of improvements in heating, housing and clothing.

A big store in New York city advertises "canine accoutrements." The old way of putting it was "dog collars, muzzles, etc." Such description is becoming obsolete in our age of fancy talk. Vase factories are masquerading as "pottery studios." The plain store has become a "shoppe." Political rings call themselves "clubs." The barbers is a tonsorial artist and the bootblack a shining artist. This is a great age for verbal forebushing.

It is a strange coincidence that the learned counsel for the prosecution was trying to explain to a witness, who happened to be a laborer, the nature of a miracle. "It's counsel began to speak from a window on the fifth floor of a building on the pavement and then got up and walked home, 'What do you think that would be?'" "Well sir, an accident," was the reply. "No," said the lawyer, "you misunderstand me. If, for instance, you fell down the fifth story and again you walked home, what do you think that would be?" "A coincidence, sir," "My dear," extrapolated the learned lawyer, "think again. If you fell from the fifth floor for a third time and walked home without the slightest possible scratch, what would you call that?" "Well, sir, I think it would be a habit."

The fat actor had to jump from a 12-foot cliff into the ground that was hidden behind the second story as he gave a brawny super a quarter." "He bounded from him as he bounded. Well, the time came for the fat actor to leap, and looking and seeing that the super was on the spot he sprang carelessly into the void, 12 feet down, not more to his 12 inches. Down he went through the air, and—crash! he struck the hard floor with terrible impact. Not the super, stepping back, had failed him. "Why didn't you catch me?" he moaned when he could speak at last, "I wanted to," said the super, "but you didn't bounce."

FEBRUARY

Cold is the sky, the light is cold, And the trees are black and bare, And the leafless twigs and branches Whisper and nod at prayer.

The roads are chaotic in beauty No colors there remain To tell of autumn's glory— Life moves in sadder strain.

The whipping flakes of driven snow Trace etchings, cutting the sky The squirrel shivers in his nest, A cottontail flees by.

No promise now of all that's held No hint of spring—no song of birds Mere warmth the birdling's quest.

But every tiny mite God's made— Each twig and bird and beast— Knows Mother Earth is busy now Preparing summer's feast.

—I. W. Bonsu in Farm Life.

MAY YOUR RETURNS TO STAGE

MELROSE, Feb. 6.—May Yule, whose name was once a by-word as the best entertainer on Broadway, who later became Lady Franck Hope and hobnobbed with royalty while she wore the famous Hope diamond, yesterday returned to the stage. At a motion picture house here, the woman who was the toast of two continents, appeared with a violinist and pianist under her old name, "Simply May." She is the widow of John McClellan, Martin Calman, Edward St. Leger and Ruth McCarthy.

UP IN BOSTON

Four boys who ran away from the state infirmary in Tewksbury last week and who were picked up by the police in Boston, Sunday afternoon, were returned to Tewksbury yesterday under the guidance of Thomas Murphy, a hospital attache. The boys were Harry Turner, 16; Henry Duckwater, 15; Murray Gardner, 16, and John McClellan, 11. Gardner came to America about two weeks ago on an ocean steamer from England, and is held by the state authorities to await a decision in his case by the U. S. immigration officials.

RUNAWAYS PICKED

UP IN BOSTON

Mr. J. A. McCrea, a well-known resident of California, who was called "Daddy" and "Grandpa" on account of his white hair, and who darkened it with a home-made mixture, recently made the following statement:

"Anyone can prepare a simple mixture at home, which will darken gray hair and make it soft and glossy. To a half-pint of water add 1 ounce of bay rum, a small box of Birch Compound and 1/4 ounce of glycerine.

"These ingredients can be bought at any drug store at very little cost. Apply the hair twice a week until the desired color is obtained. It does not color the scalp. Is not sticky or greasy and does not run off."—Adv.

Compromise Reached on Memel Situation

LONDON, Feb. 6.—A provisional compromise has been reached between the Lithuanian government and the entente ministers at Kovno for the regulation of the situation in Memel, pending decision of that territory's future either by the ambassadors' conference or the League of Nations, says the diplomatic correspondent of the Telegraph today. The writer adds that presumably a neutral zone will be created.

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—The Potter's Field will be the final resting place of Chief Gabriel Whitehorse, full-blooded Cherokee Indian and war veteran, who killed himself in a crowded department store yesterday for love of a young married woman unless some of his old buddies realize funds to send the body back to his old home in Oklahoma. The body was unclaimed today in the city morgue.

AMERICAN LEGION POST MEETING

Commander Joseph Molloy presided at a rousing meeting of Lowell Post 87, American Legion, in the new quarters last evening. The commander called attention to the fact that the quarters of the Veterans' wing are now open for use as a club room and urged their use. Tickets were distributed for the banquet and "get-together" to be held next Monday.

The committee on entertainment reported on several future events scheduled. On motion of Chaplain W. P. Martin, D.M.L., a vote of thanks was passed to the Washington club for the generous gift of a phonograph for use in the Legion clubrooms. Editor Williams of the Boston Transcript, a long-time friend of Legionaries, is coming soon to address the Lowell veterans. H. B. Leggat announced the formation of a golf club.

The intimate friend of Mrs. Ferguson, though Jo was legally bound to a wife and was father of a boy, 3, and though she, likewise was a wife and mother.

Woman Vanishes

On February 3, 1922, Mrs. Ferguson went for a ride with Hudson. Then she vanished. No one knew her fate until—

Her body two months later was fished from a stream. A gaping bullet hole above her eye told how she had met death.

Hudson, Jr., was sought. In July he was seized as a traffic violator in Chattanooga and was identified through a police bulletin photograph.

On the train en route to Memphis young Hudson told officers, they say, that he killed Mrs. Ferguson. "She was the only woman I ever loved," they quote him as saying. "We quarreled while keeping a rendezvous. I shot to frighten her. The bullet took effect."

Tried for Murder

Hudson, Jr., was put on trial for murder.

In the course of the trial Hudson, Jr., got hopped to the witness stand and confessed in open court he had fired the shot that killed Mrs. Ferguson when he was striving to wrest a revolver from her grasp.

Despite that, the jury within an hour found Hudson, Jr., guilty of murder and voted death in the electric chair.

Attorneys of Hudson, Jr., now have appealed to the supreme court.

Will father-love win? Will the aged man be permitted to give up his few remaining years of life that his son may live?

That now rests with the supreme court—and if the supreme court says no, possibly with Tennessee's governor.

It was the 63rd day of the trial.

Contributions made on Sunday to the Massachusetts committee for the support of those children amounted to $2576.

GREEK ORPHANS TAKEN TO SAFETY ZONES

The Massachusetts Near East relief committee has notified the Greek committee in Boston, Lowell and Salem, that all Greek orphans in its charge have been removed from Anatolia to zones of safety, either in Greece or Syria. The removal involved great expense and many hardships, and two American relief workers lost their lives during the evacuation. Thousands of children have been sent to the island of Corfu, to Edipsos, Oropos, Salonic and Athens. Altogether 20,000 children have been taken out of Turkey while the Lausanne conference was in progress.

Contributions made on Sunday to the Massachusetts committee for the support of those children amounted to $2576.

NOT THE COLDEST BUT COLD ENOUGH

It wasn't the coldest morning of the season, but it was cold.

Harry H. Atwood, of the Pelham general store, who has one of the best mercury glass toboggans in town at a mighty cold temperature spot, reported 12 below at 6 a. m. About two weeks ago the same glass registered 16 below, so this morning wasn't bad.

Chelmsford glasses reported 8 and 10 below. At 6 a. m. at the filtration plant on the boulevard, the reading was 6 below. Half an hour later it was up but two points and still hanging below the 6.

The locks and canals reading, lowest for the night, was 6 below.

The predicted snow late last night and today failed to arrive, and the severe gales which predicted, shot off in another direction away from Middlesex county, at least. The forecasters are going to try again, however. Tomorrow will be unsettled if the signs are right, with slowly rising temperatures and probably snow a little later in the day. Northwest winds are to shift to direct east.

No fair weather is probable on Thursday if Wednesday's blow comes along on Friday. Snow or rain is the Thursday predicted offering and "much warmer."

RAIL WAGES HOLD FOR ANOTHER YEAR

CHICAGO, Feb. 6.—(By Associated Press)—Preservation of existing wage rates and working rules for train, yard and engine service employees on all the railroads of the country for another year was assured last night by two decisions of the United States Railroad Labor Board.

In the first decision, the board postponed further action in the cases of 17 railroads and nine subsidiary lines which sought reductions of wages and revision of working rules until "some date subsequent to Oct. 1, 1923."

A second decision also postponed for the same period action on cases submitted on a large number of roads by the firemen's organization in which a rule was requested to compel the railroads to employ two firemen on the larger engines.

Thousands upon thousands of women have kidney or bladder trouble and never suspect it.

Women's complaints often prove to be nothing else but other trouble, or the result of kidney or bladder disease.

If the kidneys are not in a healthy condition, they may cause the other organs to become diseased.

You may suffer pain in the back, headache and loss of ambition.

Poor health makes you nervous, irritable and maybe despondent; it makes any one so.

But hundreds of women claim that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp Root, by restoring health to the kidneys proved to be just the remedy needed to overcome such conditions.

FATHER LOVE FAILS IN MURDER CASE

By N.E.A. Service
MEMPHIS, Tenn., Feb. 6.—Through the ages, mother-love has won for erring children, has been allowed to sacrifice self, it has been idealized in poetry and song, has achieved the title of world's greatest ideal.

But unwise, undeveloped father-love passes unnoticed.

And now when a father attempts to make the supreme sacrifice for his son, his sacrifice is refused.

The test came in the trial here of John W. Hudson, Jr., for the murder of Mrs. Hattie Ferguson.

Here is the story from its beginning:

Hudson, Jr. evidence shows, became

Another Jute Mill at Ludlow
Affected—Strikers Seek Another Wage Increase

LUDLOW, Feb. 6.—The strike of carders yesterday in the No. 1 mill or the Ludlow Manufacturing associates, manufacturers of jute products, spread to No. 1 mill today, when part of the carders employed there failed to go to work. Though a considerable number of workers gathered outside the mill gate to talk by strike leaders, there was no disorder. Officials of the company said that all the mills except the two mentioned were operating with full force. The strikers seek a wage increase over the 5 per cent granted January 1. About 50 are out altogether.

ASKS RECEIVER FOR WAL-
THAM WATCH CO.

BOSTON, Feb. 6.—A receiver for the Waltham Watch Co. was asked today in a petition filed by Mary Bell Williams, of Manchester, N. H., in the federal court here. The petitioner also asked an injunction to restrain the board of directors and the stockholders' committee of the company from carrying out announced plans for reorganization. It was contended that the plan would not work out to the best interests of the company and its stockholders. A hearing was set for tomorrow.

The petition alleges that the respondents have misrepresented the condition of the company and obtained control of the voting power of the corporation as a result of misrepresentation. Detailing alleged representations as against present conditions, it is asserted that the respondents are engaged in an attempt to absorb the capital of the company and that they have depreciated the market value of its securities.

The defendants named include Gifford K. Shombs, president of the company.

GREATEST SECRECY AT EXHUMATION OF COFFIN

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—Exhumation of the coffin of James Jones, seaman, to search it for Russian crown jewels, valued at $4,000,000, which are reported to have been buried with Jones in Cypress Hills cemetery, Brooklyn, will be conducted with the greatest secrecy. William B. Williams, special agent hero of the treasury department announced today.

Orders for exhumation, issued at Washington to set at rest the reports which had sent thousands of curious persons to the cemetery and necessitated the posting of an armed guard, have not yet arrived, Mr. Williams said.

"The more we look into the story," Mr. Williams said, "the more likely it seems that the jewels are in the Jones' coffin."

M. I. T. WITHOUT
DORMITORY COMMITTEE

CAMBRIDGE, Feb. 6.—Massachusetts Institute of Technology was without an undergraduate dormitory committee today as a result of the resignation in a body of the committee elected at the beginning of the term. The resignations were forced by written demand of more than three-fourths of the students resident in dormitories, and were a result of the dismissal from the Institute of three students who had created a disturbance in the dormitories. The undergraduate body, it was said, felt that the matter had not been properly presented to the college authorities by the dormitory committee, which had already disciplined the men, and that the action of the college officials was unnecessarily severe.

SCOTT SURPRISED

SALARY NOT CUT

BOSTON, Feb. 6.—The New York Yankees apparently are not brimming salary suits to meet the demands of financing construction of their new grounds. Everett Scott, former captain of the Red Sox, now a member of the Yankees, in a letter to a friend here that was published today, said to his surprise he found his contract for the coming season called for the same salary he received last year. "They certainly pay good money in New York and I guess I was lucky to get over there," he wrote.

In the trade of Peacock for three youngsters, Scott said, he thought Boston got all the best of it.

"ASTOUNDING FAILURE?"

LAUSANNE, Feb. 6.—(By the Associated Press)—The suspension of the Lausanne conference forms a striking example of the complete helplessness of the European powers in the face of the great problems before them, declared Foreign Minister Tschelcher of Soviet Russia in a statement today.

One of the principal causes of "this astounding failure," he said, "was the elimination of Russia from the conference deliberations."
